Hello Sports Fans,

Quick end of summer email, blink.... Summer's almost over...

- Just a few short weeks till school starts to enjoy the short time left.
- We're not on water rationing yet, but will be coming soon if we don't get some rain.
- Lindenwood at Memorial lights will begin the operational phase (FINALLY!) tomorrow afternoon. Might be some delays during the day as workers finishing up.
- This Saturday at 10:00am, at our wonderful Farmers Market, there will be our first of what we hope will be a monthly program of Brave Book reading. A Patriotic/inspirational program for kids. Go to <http://www.bravebooks.us> for more information on the program. Chief Ray Schultz of MVPD will be our inaugural reader, so bring the kids out, listen to a good message and get some great market goods! Might want to bring your own chair and get a group of your neighborhood kids out.
- I'm getting lots of reports of speeders all over the village, not that it's anything new, as there are all kinds of crazy drivers out there! PLEASE SLOW DOWN!
- We're entering the meat of Hurricane season, so might as well get prepared as we can be, though we need the rain....

OK, that's all I got, stay hydrated and see you Saturday at the Market!
