Hunters Creek is Green Again.....the Pollen is gone....the Pool is almost swimmable...Summer is right around the corner!

OK, we made it past Easter and heading into the home stretch of the school year....hang on, almost done....

-Good news: MVWA's work is complete on Voss Rd, new sewer pipes for us! Your patience throughout this process is much appreciated, especially those on and off Voss Rd. residents directly affected, thanks.

-Bad news: Greenbay at Memorial Drive is closed on Greenbay this week as Piney Point Village is completing some underground drainage work in the road bed....(no it does not affect our drainage), work to completed in a couple of weeks.

-Good news: no more road construction/delays until Sept. when we begin our Memorial at Voss Mast arm beautification project (Approx. 4 weeks).

-Bad news: the guardrail on the east side of Voss, north of Beinhorn was smashed again....2nd time already this year. Special thanks to our resident Tim Hebert for getting his crew out to fix so quickly each and every time, Thanks Tim!

-Good news: 12 Hunters Creek residents got their CPR Certification at city hall last week. Next class is April 11th, so call and sign up if you want to learn this priceless lifesaving skill. Call 713-465-2150 to get on the list. We will continue to host classes for Hunters Creek residents, as demand warrants, based on 12 people per class, then open to the other Villages. There is no cost to residents, but if you sign up, you better attend.....

-Good news: We are 90% complete with our new street signs, balance to be completed by end of the month. If you bought your old street sign, go by city hall and pick up and pay for it, otherwise the neighbor who called right after you will get them.

-Good news: LTC Classes will resume April 25th at City Hall. Specific message to come next week with more info.

-OK, that's 5 good news and 2 bad news, so that's good news.

Get out and enjoy our beautiful weather while it lasts, before the heat, humidity and mosquitos are back....(mosquito spraying began March 1st by the way)

Our Awesome Farmer's Market is every Saturday, so go support the vendors and listen to great music from our own Hunters Creek resident musicians Will Csorba and Kyle Comer, they're great.

We have 3 standout Memorial Varsity baseball players who are residents and will be playing major college ball in the coming years, Ben Dukes, James Kirkpatrick and Ben Stubbs, so go watch the Mustangs at Memorial High while it's still free to watch them play.

OK, that's all the news.
